About

Dr Malkani researches and teaches in the fields of human rights and criminal justice, with a particular focus on the death penalty. He is the Co-ordinator of Birmingham Law School's Pro Bono Group, which he established in 2009. The Pro Bono Group provides free legal services for the local community, and enables students to gain experience of the law in practice, to complement their studies.

Feedback and office hours

In the second semester of 2014-2015, my Office and Feedback Hours will be:

Thursdays, 2-4pm

Students are welcome to see me during these hours without an appointment. If you need to see me outside these hours, please email me to arrange another time, or just knock on my door (although I can't guarantee that I'll be available)

Qualifications

- LLB (Bristol)
- LLM (Nottingham)
- PhD (Bristol)

Biography

Bharat Malkani joined Birmingham Law School in September 2008 whilst completing his doctorate at the University of Bristol, which he completed in 2009. Prior to commencing his PhD, Bharat worked at the American Bar Association (Juvenile Justice Center) in Washington DC, where he helped co-ordinate an ultimately successful national campaign to have the death penalty for juvenile offenders abolished in the United States of America. He authored an amici curiae brief on the relevance of international human rights law to the interpretation of the US Constitution, which was cited by the US Supreme Court when abolishing the death penalty for juvenile offenders in Roper v. Simmons (2005). While at Bristol, Bharat helped set up the first Innocence Project in the UK, which enables students to research and investigate claims of miscarriages of justice.

Teaching

- Human Rights & Criminal Justice (LLB and LLM, module leader)
- International Human Rights Law (LLB and LLM, module leader)
- The Death Penalty in Law and Practice (LLM, module leader)
- Sentencing and Penal Policy (LLM)
- Criminal law (LLB)

Postgraduate supervision

Dr Malkani is keen to supervise postgraduate research students whose research interests lie in the following areas:

- The Death Penalty
- Human Rights Law
- International Law
- Criminal Law and Criminal Justice

Current doctoral supervision

Dr Malkani is currently supervising three doctoral students undertaking research in the following areas:

- Environmental philosophy in international law: a study of environmental philosophical perspectives in decisions of the ICJ
- The concept of life imprisonment
- Social justice, poverty, and international human rights law

Research

Bharat Malkani is interested in the relationship between human rights law and the criminal justice system, with a particular focus on the death penalty and penal policy. His doctoral thesis considered how domestic courts use international and foreign human rights law.

In February 2012 Dr Malkani recorded a podcast with the University of Birmingham Ideaslab \(http://www.ideaslab.bham.ac.uk/ideaslab_podcast.htm\) on the topic of Human Rights: noble concept or a shield for terrorists?
