Research

Research Interests:

- Characterisation, development, fracture and fatigue of alloys and composite materials (MMCs and CMCs)
- Measurement, use, modelling and control of crack growth resistance through fracture mechanics concepts
- Prediction of properties through correlating microstructural parameters with micromechanisms of failure
- Behaviour of cracks in non-uniform stress fields is a subject of generic interest
- Elevated temperature performance
- Design codes, and prediction of the behaviour of components
- Fracture and fatigue studies of conventional materials
