About

I specialise in twentieth-century repertory, analysis, critical theory and aesthetics.

Qualifications

I hold a first degree from the University of Cambridge, a Masters in Theory and Analysis from Kings College London and a doctorate from Cambridge.

Biography

I have been teaching at the University of Birmingham since 2004. Before that I held a Junior Research Fellowship at St John's College, Oxford.

Teaching

I teach undergraduate modules on twentieth-century musical history, on the analysis of tonal and post-tonal music and on critical theory, and postgraduate modules on contemporary music studies and on the history of musical aesthetics.

Postgraduate supervision

I am currently supervising PhD dissertations on temporality in late Debussy, British musical Wagnerism, and the Cello Sonata, Op. 8 of Kodaly.

Doctoral research

PhD title 'Musical Modernism in Fascist Italy: Dallapiccola in the Thirties'.

Research

My research interests are in the history, analysis and criticism of musical modernism, Italian and British.

Other activities

I am (or have been) the following: Library representative, Exams Officer, Plagiarism contact, Welfare tutor, Mitigations officer, Admissions tutor, Director of Learning and Teaching.
