About

I have a long association with the Institute where I was a postgraduate student and then on the staff as Research Assistant and later as Librarian. My engagement with the Shakespeare community in Stratford-upon-Avon, the UK and internationally began there and continues.

Biography

Susan Brock is currently Academic Manager at the Institute for Advanced Teaching and Learning at the University of Warwick. She was formerly Administrator of the CAPITAL centre at Warwick, a Centre for Excellence in Teaching and Learning focusing on creativity and performance (2005-2010), Head of Academic Resource Development (1997-2000) and then Head of Library and Information Resources at the Shakespeare Birthplace Trust (2000-2005), Executive Secretary of the International Shakespeare Association (1997-2000), and Librarian at the Shakespeare Institute (1978-1997). While at the Shakespeare Institute, she oversaw the move of the Institute Library from the University campus to Stratford-upon-Avon and the building of the Johnson Library at Mason Croft.

Her doctoral thesis was an edition of the neo-latin drama Labyrinthus (1598) by Walter Hawkesworth. While researching the thesis for the Department of Classics at Birmingham she discovered the Institute Library \(/schools/edacs/departments/shakespeare/research/shakespeare-institute-library.aspx\) and stayed. She qualified as an archivist in 1975.

Teaching

Leads the Elizabethan stream of the postgraduate Palaeography course From Manuscript to Print for the Centre for the Study of the Renaissance, University of Warwick.

Research

Early modern theatre communities, Shakespeare in performance.

Other activities
