

Computational Vision

School of Computer Science

College of Engineering and Physical Sciences

Details

Code 19339

Level of study Second Year

Credit value 10

Semester 2

Module description

The module provides an introduction to computer vision, intended for students with some prior background in AI. Appropriate computational models, techniques and algorithms will be introduced, so that students can both understand the relevant literature and construct simple software systems.