

Admissions

The University's Admissions Office is at the heart of putting the University's mission to practice by admitting those applicants who will be best able to benefit from an education here.

The Admissions Office manages a fair, transparent and consistent admissions process to undergraduate and postgraduate programmes, providing advice and support to prospective students and academic departments.

Working with the wider University community, national agencies and the government on a wide range of admissions-related issues and the Admissions Office ensures compliance with University regulations and relevant government legislation.
