

Web editors forum - Google moderator and tagging

Posted: Tuesday 20th September 2011

Blog: Web support blog \(/websupport/blog\)

On the 6th September we had one of our fortnightly web editors forums. Both Thom and Tara were away so James and myself took the reigns.

James gave a demo of Google moderator which we will be using to assess the homepage design ideas that we put together in the inaugural forum. We'll be able to vote on each idea and it will give a good overall view on what people like and don't like. He then gave a demo of tagging and encouraged the use of the functionality throughout Corporate Services as well as in the Colleges.

I gave a run down on what the web team are up to - I'll add the powerpoint to this blog shortly.

Looking forward to seeing you all in two weeks.
