If you are unable to apply online, or have any trouble using the online application form please contact us on:

Telephone: +44 121 414 9292

Email: foundation@contacts.bham.ac.uk

When is the deadline for applications?

The last date for application for September 2017 entry is Sunday 6 August 2017.

The last date for application for January 2018 entry is Sunday 5 November 2017

Do you need to see the original certificates for my qualifications?

You do not need to send original or certified copies of your academic qualifications unless you receive an offer from us. The conditions of your offer will make it very clear what documents are required. We do not normally need original or certified copies of English proficiency certificates (IELTS/Pearson) as we are able to verify these results online.

Can I send certified copies?

Yes, in order to meet the conditions of an offer you can send in certified copies of your academic documents – these would normally need to be certified by your school, college or institution.

Where do I send my certificates to?

When you receive an offer and we request your academic certificates, please send them by post to:

Admissions Office
University of Birmingham
Edgbaston
Birmingham
B15 2TT
United Kingdom

We do not normally need original or certified copies of English proficiency certificates (IELTS/Pearson) as we are able to verify these results online. However, if you wish to send your English language results by email, please use the email address:
foundation@contacts.bham.ac.uk

What is the difference between the one-year and the four-year programmes?

If your application is successful you may receive an offer of a place for one of the following programmes:

- A Bachelor's Degree with Integrated Foundation Year (four-year programme). This will include your one-year Foundation Pathway Programme.
- The Birmingham Foundation Pathway programme (one-year programme). If you complete your one-year programme and meet the published progression criteria you will be guaranteed a place on one of our three- or four-year undergraduate degree programmes

The one-year programme is classified as a course below degree level and therefore we are able to accept a slightly lower English language level for the entry requirement.

If you wish to progress to the following undergraduate degrees you can only take the one-year programme:

- BA Education (including Education with Sociology & History)
- BSc Sport, Physical Education and Coaching Science
- MPharm Pharmacy
- BSc Physiotherapy
- BSc Biomedical Materials Science

This is because these programmes require additional conditions to be met during the foundation year.

Successful applicants will be issued with a Confirmation of Acceptance for Studies to cover a one-year programme. If you successfully complete your Birmingham Foundation Pathway year and progress to a degree programme, you can apply for an extension of your Leave to Remain in the UK.

The four-year programme is classified as a degree-level programme and therefore, in order to comply with UKBA regulations, you must have an IELTS score of at least 5.5 (with 5.5 in each band) or equivalent.

Successful applicants will be issued with a CAS to cover a four-year programme.

There is no difference in the course content, range of modules, progression routes or progression requirements between the one-year and the four-year programmes for the same pathway. In both cases you are guaranteed a place on one of the University's undergraduate programmes providing you achieve satisfactory grades in the first year. Certain degree programmes will require that you achieve a specific grade in specified Foundation programme modules in order to progress, and for a small number of programmes you will need to pass an interview, workshop or audition stage. These requirements are the same whether you are taking a one-year or a four-year programme.

All undergraduate programmes that you may progress to from each Foundation Pathway, and their progression requirements (including whether you would be required to pass an interview, workshop or audition stage) are listed at:

www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation/Pathway-pathways

Can I progress to the University's four-year degree programmes with a year in industry or year abroad?

Yes, it is possible to progress to a four-year degree programme, such as the MEng or MSci (integrated Masters) or programmes with a year in industry or year abroad, after the Foundation Pathways year, making your total time at Birmingham five years. In such cases Birmingham Foundation Pathway students holding an offer for a Bachelors degree with integrated foundation year (four-year programme) will be able to apply for a one-year extension of their Tier 4 (General) student visa in their final year. Foundation Pathways' students holding an offer for a one-year programme will be able to apply for a four-year extension of their Tier 4 (General) student visa after their initial Foundation Pathway year.

I have applied for the Foundation Pathway programme. What happens next?

Providing you meet the entry requirements and depending on your English language competence, we aim to reach a decision on complete applications within approximately five working days for a normal application (working days are normally Monday to Friday). If we require any further information from you we will write to you by email. Please note: Your application will be considered to be complete only when we have received copies of all relevant supporting documents.

Your offer may be conditional upon passing the examination you are currently studying for or improving your English language level before you start the Foundation Pathways programme. Your offer letter will make it clear what the conditions of your offer are and how to fulfill them. Once you have satisfied any conditions of your offer, the University will issue you with an unconditional offer. When you have accepted this, you will receive a Confirmation of Acceptance for Studies (CAS) for either the one-year or the four-year Foundation Pathway programme.

How do I apply for a student visa for the UK?

Your Confirmation of Acceptance for Studies (CAS) proves that you have been accepted on to a full-time course, and will be required when you apply for your Tier 4 (General) student visa to study in the UK. You can use your CAS number to apply for your visa in the three months before the start of your programme.

Once you have been issued with your CAS, the University's International Students Advisory Service (ISAS) will contact you to offer support with the visa application process.

If your offer is conditional because you need to improve your English language level, and you apply for the Foundation Pathways' Pre-sessional English programme in order to do this, the University will issue a CAS for the duration of your pre-sessional programme. Once you have successfully completed this, you will be issued a new CAS for the one-year or four-year Foundation Pathway programme and will be able to apply to extend your student visa. (For more information, please see the Foundation Pathway Pre-sessional English programme section below.)

You can find more information about the process of applying for a student visa at www.birmingham.ac.uk/international/students/visas/student.aspx You can also check the requirements for entry to the UK with the British Council offices, British Embassy or British High Commission in your country or you can go to the UK Border Agency website www.ukba.homeoffice.gov.uk

Can I defer my offer?

Yes you can request a deferral on your offer; to do this please get in touch with the named Admissions contact within your offer letter. Deferral requests must be made in writing (either by post or by email). Please note that offer holders are only allowed to defer once.

Why was my application unsuccessful?

All programmes at Birmingham are very competitive and only applicants who meet the minimum entry requirements will receive the offer of a place. If your application is unsuccessful it is normally because your qualifications do not meet these requirements. For a list of the full entry requirements, please visit: www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation-Pathway-requirements

Students at Foundation Pathway must be at least 16 years old so if you will be under this age at the start of the FOUNDATION PATHWAY programme, your application will not be successful. We value all applications and thank you for your interest in the Foundation Pathway.

My passport is out of date, what should I do?

If you are an International student you must have a valid passport for travel and for your visa. If you have applied and are waiting for a new one, you should send in a scanned copy of your new passport as soon as possible to foundation@contacts.bham.ac.uk. You have until the 28th August or 7th November to send your passport copy, depending on whether you have applied for a January or September programme. If you don't think you will be able to send it in by the 28th August or 7th November 2017, please e-mail to notify us at foundation@contacts.bham.ac.uk

I don't have a parental consent form/what is a parental consent form?

If you are under the age of 18, the University needs your parents or your guardian to fill in a form. It was sent to you in your offer e-mail. You should look back at that e-mail and see if you can find it. If not, please e-mail foundation@contacts.bham.ac.uk and ask for another copy.

2. Entry requirements: is this programme right for me?

What are the academic entry requirements for the Foundation Pathways? You can find the entry requirements specific to your country and qualification at www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation-Pathway-requirements

If your qualification is not listed here, then please contact us via email at foundation@contacts.bham.ac.uk or telephone +44 121 414 9292. We will be happy to advise you as to whether your qualification is accepted for entry to the Foundation Pathway and if so, what grades you require.

What English language requirements will I need?

All your teaching will take place in English so you will need to demonstrate that you have a good standard of written and spoken English before you start your Foundation Pathway programme. To do this you must have reached a specified level in a recognised English language proficiency test. The level you will need depends on the pathway you wish to take and whether you register for the one-year or the four-year programme. If you have taken IELTS or the Pearson Test of English (Academic) you can find the required level for your chosen pathway under 'English language entry requirements' at www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation-Pathway-requirements

Do you accept IGCSEs?

IGCSEs, and other qualification that are at the same level as GCSEs in the UK education system, on their own are not considered sufficient for Entry to the FOUNDATION PATHWAYS. We would normally expect qualifications to be broadly equivalent to the UK AS-Level qualification. IGCSEs would be considered if offered together with additional qualifications.

Do you accept AS levels?

AS Levels will be accepted with a ABB profile, to include Mathematics for the Engineering and Physical Sciences pathway or Biology for our MGLS pathway that progresses to a Biology focused degree.

AS Levels may be acceptable on a case by case basis. If you are studying for AS Levels we would strongly urge you to continue your studies to A Level as this will provide you with more options for higher education study. If you choose to study to AS Level only and apply for the Foundation Pathway you will be asked to provide information as to why you did not continue your studies through to A Level and this information will be taken in to account when assessing your application.

Do you accept A levels?

If you possess UK A levels you will not normally be considered eligible for the foundation. However, we do accept good A Levels for students who wish to take the FOUNDATION PATHWAYS as an adjustment year.

Entry requirements: A-Levels at BBB. For Engineering and Physical Sciences Pathway this should include grade B in Mathematics and for the Medical, Life and Geo Sciences Pathway this should include grade B in Biology

We may also consider applicants with a combination of A Levels and other international qualifications.

Do you accept International Baccalaureate Diploma or A Level Equivalencies?

If you possess high school leaving qualifications equivalent to UK A levels you will not normally be considered eligible for the foundation.

However, we do accept these qualifications for students who want to take the FOUNDATION PATHWAY as an adjustment year.

For IB, we require a total of 28 points, or 554 at HL with 24 overall with no subject requirements - except for the Engineering and Physical Science Pathway, where a 5 in Mathematics at SL or HL would be required; or Medical, Life and Geo Sciences Pathway which would require a 5 in Biology at SL or HL.

Please note that Foundation Pathways are not suitable for you if you already hold a degree (both UG and PG)

Do you accept International Baccalaureate Certificate?

We do not accept this qualification on its own.

Do you accept the Certificate of Advanced English (CAE)?

Yes, this would be acceptable if you have achieved at Grade A and the certificate is no older than two years at the time of admission.

You can find the other English language entry requirements specific to your intended pathway at: www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation-Pathway-requirements

I have studied in English at my school. Do I still need to take an English language test?

We will only accept English from countries where English is the primary language. Please refer to the country-specific requirements listed at www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation-Pathway-requirements This list indicates where an additional English test is not required.

Can I still join the Foundation Pathway programme if I don't meet the minimum English language requirements?

You must meet the minimum English language requirements before joining the Foundation Pathway programme.

If you do not meet the English language requirements at the time you apply, we may make you an offer that is conditional upon you meeting these requirements.

To enable you to do this, you can attend a specific Birmingham International Academy English preessional programme that takes place before the start of your first term. This programme can be 6, 10, 11, 15, 20 or 31 weeks in duration, depending on your current English language level. Successful completion of this programme will allow you to progress to the Foundation Pathway without retaking another English language test.

Please note: The tuition fees for the FOUNDATION PATHWAYS Preessional English programme are not part of the Foundation Pathway Package.

For more information please see the Foundation Pathway Preessional English programme section below.

Is the Foundation Pathway right for me?

The Foundation Pathway is suitable for you if you have completed your high school education to a high standard and you would normally require a foundation year before being eligible for first-year undergraduate entry to universities in the UK.

The FOUNDATION PATHWAY is not suitable for you if:

- You would not normally require a foundation year but have not achieved the grades normally acceptable for direct entry to University of Birmingham undergraduate degree programmes.
- You hold a degree (either a Bachelor degree, Masters degree or Research degree). Your qualifications may be suitable for other programmes. Please visit Course Finder for details of undergraduate and postgraduate programmes which are available.

I am a UK student; is the Foundation Pathway suitable for me?

The Foundation Pathway are primarily aimed at students whose education system is not directly comparable to that of the UK. This means that, even if you have completed your high school education to a high standard, you would still normally require a foundation or a bridging year before being eligible for first-year undergraduate entry to universities in the UK.

The FOUNDATION PATHWAY is not suitable for you if you have been educated in the UK, and would not therefore normally require a foundation or bridging year, but you have not achieved the grades normally acceptable for entry to the University of Birmingham.

The FOUNDATION PATHWAY is not recommended for you if English is your first language, as you will still need to take modules in Academic English and Study Skills as a compulsory part of your programme.

I am an EU student; is the Foundation Pathway suitable for me?

The Foundation Pathway is suitable for you if you have completed your high school education to a high standard and you would normally require a foundation year before being eligible for first-year undergraduate entry to universities in the UK. Most education systems in the EU are similar to that of the UK and you would not normally require a foundation year before starting an undergraduate degree programme. However, if you meet our stated entry requirements for the FOUNDATION PATHWAY, you are welcome to apply.

You can also choose to join a FOUNDATION PATHWAY if you meet the stated entry requirements for direct entry to University of Birmingham undergraduate degree programmes but you would like to take a foundation year in order to improve your academic English and study skills and familiarise yourself with the UK.

If English is your first language, the FOUNDATION PATHWAY is not recommended for you, as you will still need to take modules in Academic English and Study Skills as part of your pathway. However, if you are a high-level English language speaker, with an IELTS score of 8 overall (or equivalent) you can replace the Academic English and Study Skills modules with Advanced Academic Skills module – this 20 credit module will enable you to extend your academic and communication skills intensively and to use your language flexibly for a wide range of academic purposes.

Entry requirements for the FOUNDATION PATHWAY can be found at:

www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation-Pathway-requirements

The cost of the Foundation Pathway Package for Home Students (EU) in 2015–2016 is £9,000 This includes:

- One year's tuition fees
- Books and all classroom equipment

- Full access to all campus facilities and University services

Please note:

www.birmingham.ac.uk/undergraduate/fees/loans.aspx .Unfortunately you are not eligible to apply with the FOUNDATION PATHWAY one year offer only

I am a mature student; are the Foundation Pathways suitable for me?

The Foundation Pathways have specific entry requirements based on the education system that you have followed and the level you have attained. English language entry requirements also apply. If you meet the specified entry requirements, you are welcome to apply.

Entry requirements for the FOUNDATION PATHWAYS can be found at:

www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation Pathway-requirements

Can I just apply for direct entry to an undergraduate programme?

The Foundation Pathway is primarily aimed at students whose education system is not directly comparable to that of the UK. This means that, even if they have completed their high school education to a high standard, they would still normally require a foundation or a bridging year before being eligible for first year undergraduate entry to universities in the UK.

If the education system you have studied in and the qualification you have achieved are normally accepted for direct entry to UK undergraduate programmes and you meet the entry requirements for the University of Birmingham, then you are welcome to apply directly for an undergraduate programme via the UCAS system. However, if you meet the undergraduate requirements but would like to take a foundation year in order to improve your academic English and study skills and familiarise yourself with the UK, you can still choose to join the FOUNDATION PATHWAY.

Please note:

- You can check if your qualification is accepted for direct entry to our undergraduate programmes at: www.birmingham.ac.uk/international/students/country/index.aspx

4. About the Foundation Pathway

What is the Foundation Pathway?

The Foundation Pathway is a specially structured programme for students whose qualifications are not accepted for direct entry to UK universities. It is an opportunity for highly motivated learners with an excellent academic record and the willingness to study hard to enter the university environment one year before the start of the undergraduate degree programme.

At the end of the Foundation Pathway year, you are guaranteed a place on an undergraduate degree course at the University of Birmingham, provided you have achieved satisfactory grades. Two-thirds of your Foundation Pathway programme consists of academic modules in the subject area you want to study at undergraduate level. The remaining third consists of English language and study skills that will prepare you for learning at degree level in the UK.

What is different about the FOUNDATION PATHWAY?

The FOUNDATION PATHWAYS programme is different from many other university foundation programmes. A key difference is that you are taught by the University's own academics, many of whom are global experts carrying out world-leading research. This gives you a distinct advantage by ensuring that your programme reflects the very latest emerging theories and ideas. All teaching takes place on the University's main campus and you are a full member of our student community with access to all the same facilities and services that undergraduate and postgraduate students here enjoy.

At the same time you will be fully supported by the University of Birmingham in your adjustment to UK student life.

There is a choice of either sharing bathroom facilities or en-suite accommodation. The University also has a range of studio apartments where you have exclusive use of kitchen and bathroom facilities. All bedrooms are fully furnished and offer both a cabled and wireless internet connection. (More details can be found in the Your accommodation section below.)

A catered package is available to students who live at the Vale Village. Adapted rooms are available for wheelchair users and for students with hearing and sight impairment (Please contact us if you require specially adapted accommodation.)

Further information about each village, including virtual tours of bedrooms and kitchens, is available at www.birmingham.ac.uk/undergraduate/accommodation/halls/index.aspx

Can I choose to live somewhere else?

The University offers a special level of support for students under the age of 18. This is made possible by housing them together in Mason, one of the University's newest residences, on the Vale Village. This accommodation is located close to the Customer Service Manager; ensuring support is always close by. Therefore, for all students who are under the age of 18 at the start of the course, accommodation in Mason is compulsory unless you have a local relative or designated guardian with whom you wish to live and this arrangement is agreed before you arrive in Birmingham.

If you will be over the age of 18 at the start of the course, University accommodation is highly recommended; however, you can also choose to live off site, in private accommodation.

Do I have to take the catered package?

No, the catered package is an optional extra for students who live at the Vale Village only. This gives you a flexible weekly budget for your meals that you can spend in University catering outlets. Food is provided during term times:

- 25 September 2017 to 8 December 2017
- 08 January 2018 to 23 March 2018
- 23 April 2018 to 15 June 2018

You can take your meals and snacks at any of the catering outlets, including newly redeveloped café, restaurant and bar outlets at the Hub on the Vale Village, as well as 17 other cafés and snack bars across the campus. Most dietary requirements can be catered for.

Many students find that having a catered package helps to free up time for studying, and can benefit them socially, but it is entirely your choice as to whether you take this option. You can find out more about the catered package at www.birmingham.ac.uk/undergraduate/accommodation/mealplan.aspx

Is there an Open Day?

Yes, we have many opportunities for you to visit throughout the year and would encourage you to try and visit on one of our open days, where you can view the facilities, take in the atmosphere and speak to current students and staff.

To book for any of our events and for further information, please visit: www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation/Pathway-visit

If this is not possible, you can visit at any time and we will be happy to organise a schedule for you.

If you plan to visit the University independently or for any of our events, please do contact the Foundation Pathway at least one week in advance, so that we can help you to make the most of your day.

What are the learning facilities like?

We use the latest learning technologies and our teaching rooms are well equipped. Most have touch-screen digital whiteboards and all have Wi-Fi. The University's Main Library is one of the UK's largest academic libraries, with access to over 2.7 million books and periodicals. A further eight libraries and resource centres offer specialist materials for every subject studied at Birmingham. Wherever you are on campus, you will be able to log on to the student portal. This is your personalised gateway to the digital campus, connecting you to email, news, online communities and the e-library, which gives you access to over 16,000 periodicals, databases, websites and other resources.

How will I be taught?

As a Foundation Pathways' student you will experience a variety of teaching methods. These will include lectures, seminars, tutorials, workshops, laboratory work and peer group learning, depending on the academic pathway you follow. You will be learning in a supportive environment, and will be encouraged to think, discuss and engage critically with your subject area. Classes are small and focused on individual needs. You will have a tutor, who will give help and advice on study-related issues and help you to monitor and reflect on your progress.

Is the FOUNDATION PATHWAY internationally recognised?

The Foundation Pathway is an academically rigorous programme which is delivered and awarded by the University of Birmingham (an internationally recognised institution). In line with all other UK universities, the University of Birmingham awards its own qualifications and students, who leave the University after completing the Foundation Pathway programme, but who have not completed an undergraduate degree, will receive a certificate for completion of their foundation programme.

However, the acceptability of the FOUNDATION PATHWAY for entry to another institution is solely at their discretion and you should seek advice from the institution that you hope to enter – we can only guarantee progression to University of Birmingham programmes (if the necessary requirements are met).

How will studying at Birmingham help me to compete in the global market?

The University of Birmingham enjoys an excellent reputation worldwide and has one of the largest global student communities in the UK, with over 5,000 international students from more than 150 countries. We have longstanding links with universities throughout the world, including membership of Universitas 21, the prestigious consortium of global universities in 16 countries. Once you progress to an undergraduate degree here, this network of global partnerships will offer you exciting international opportunities, such as work experience placements and annual summer schools that attract the best students from across the world.

Do I have to stay at the University of Birmingham to do my undergraduate degree? Whether you have been made an offer for the one-year or the four-year programme, you are not tied to Birmingham for your undergraduate studies, and if you wish to progress to another university, we will offer advice. However, we believe that the quality of your experience here and the supportive environment we provide will ensure that you feel at home here and will want to stay with us.

- Arts, Social Sciences, Business and Law
- Engineering and Physical Sciences
- Medical, Life and Geo Sciences

You can see the degrees to which each pathway leads at: www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation/Pathway-pathways

Each pathway consists of 120 credits in:

- An 80-credit suite of subject-specific modules taught in our colleges by Birmingham academics. These academic modules make up two-thirds of your programme. The modules you will take will depend upon your intended undergraduate degree and are subject to availability and timetabling.
- 40 credits of Academic English and Study Skills modules or you can study the Advanced Academic Skills module (20 credits) if you are a high-level speaker of English. These modules are delivered by the University's English for International Students Unit (see the English language and study skills section below for more details).

Upon successful completion of the appropriate pathway, you will be guaranteed progression to an extensive range of our undergraduate programmes in Arts and Law, Engineering and Physical Sciences, Life and Environmental Sciences, Medical Sciences or Social Sciences. Academic and English language progression requirements apply for each programme. For a small number of programmes, you will need to pass an interview, workshop or audition stage as part of the progression process. Please look at the individual pathway pages via www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation/Pathway-pathways for more information on academic modules and progression requirements for your intended degree.

Can I progress to any undergraduate degree offered by the University?

You can progress to an extensive range of our undergraduate degree programmes upon successful completion of your Foundation Academy pathway. These programmes can be seen in the pathway progression tables at: www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation/Pathway-pathways

The Foundation Pathway does not offer progression to degrees in Nursing, Medicine and Surgery, or Dental Surgery.

For Nursing or Medicine and Surgery you would need to apply through UCAS for direct undergraduate entry. Further information on entry requirements for undergraduate programmes can be found at: www.birmingham.ac.uk/students/courses/undergraduate/index.aspx

Unfortunately, the University does not offer international places on the undergraduate degree in Dental Surgery.

Are there any conditions to my progression?

Upon successful completion of the appropriate pathway, you will be guaranteed progression to an extensive range of our undergraduate programmes in Arts and Law, Engineering and Physical Sciences, Life and Environmental Sciences, Medical Sciences or Social Sciences.

You are guaranteed a place on programmes, providing you achieve satisfactory grades in your Foundation Pathway year. Academic and English language progression requirements apply for each programme. You will normally be required to achieve 55–65% overall in your Foundation Pathway programme, depending on the degree programme you intend to progress to.

In order to progress to certain degree programmes, you will be required to achieve a specific grade in certain FOUNDATION PATHWAY modules. For a small number of programmes, you will also need to pass an interview, workshop or audition stage as part of the progression process. This will be detailed in the pathway progression table at: www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation-Pathway-pathways

Can I progress to the degree in Medicine and Surgery or Nursing?

The Foundation Pathway does not offer progression to the degree in Medicine and Surgery or Nursing. You would need to apply through UCAS for direct undergraduate entry. The University of Birmingham accepts A levels, the International Baccalaureate or the American high school system for entry to the degree in Medicine and Surgery. You can check the entry requirements at: www.birmingham.ac.uk/undergraduate/courses/undergraduate/med/medicine.aspx www.birmingham.ac.uk/undergraduate/courses/med/nursing.aspx

Can I progress to the degree in Dentistry?

Unfortunately, the University does not offer international places on the undergraduate degree in Dental Surgery.

All undergraduate programmes that you may progress to from the FOUNDATION PATHWAY, and their progression requirements, are listed at: www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation-Pathway-pathways

What are the compulsory modules?

For some undergraduate degrees there will be some academic modules that you must take in your Foundation programme. If you do not take the compulsory modules for a particular undergraduate programme you will not be able to progress to that programme after your Foundation Academy year. An Academic and English and Study Skills module is compulsory for every undergraduate degree programme.

The compulsory and optional modules for each undergraduate degree that you can progress to can be seen under each pathway section at: www.birmingham.ac.uk/Foundation-Pathway-pathways

When do I choose my academic pathway and the degree I want to progress to?

When you apply to the Foundation Pathway you will be asked to choose the pathway you would like to enter and the undergraduate degree that you intend to progress to. When you receive and accept your offer to study on the programme, you will be advised about your module choices.

Can I change my chosen undergraduate degree from the one I selected when I accepted my offer?

You will not be tied to your choice of undergraduate degree; however it is important that you make the right module choices. This is because some undergraduate programmes will have modules that are compulsory in your Foundation Academy programme and you will be required to achieve a specified grade in order to progress to that course. If you have not taken the compulsory modules for a particular undergraduate programme you will not be able to progress to that programme after your Foundation Academy year. You must therefore check the module requirements for the undergraduate programme you wish to progress to before making your module choices.

If you would like to change your choice of undergraduate degree before you start the FOUNDATION PATHWAY, please email the Admissions contact named in your offer letter. If you decide that you want to change your choice of undergraduate degree after you have started the FOUNDATION PATHWAY programme, you would need to discuss this with your tutor.

Can I change to a different pathway?

In certain circumstances it is possible to change your academic pathway, although you would need to discuss this with your tutor.

How many students have completed their FOUNDATION PATHWAY year and progressed onto a degree?

The first and second cohort of students completed their FOUNDATION PATHWAY year in June 2013 and 2014. Counting all students who started the course in September 2013 and 2014, over 80% reached the progression threshold for their chosen undergraduate degree and chose to continue their studies at University of Birmingham.

Is there somewhere on campus where I can observe my faith and receive spiritual support?

Yes. St Francis Hall, the University chaplaincy, is a place where students of all faiths can meet for worship, seek advice or counselling from a chaplain, or obtain information on places of worship in the local area. Chaplains, who are ministers or religious representatives, are available every weekday during term time. There are over 20 chaplains from different faiths at the University. The chaplaincy is also home to a wide range of student-led faith-based groups and societies which organise their own events and social activities. 13. Student life

Can I get involved in volunteering or join student groups?

Of course! Volunteering is a great way to improve your chances of finding a job when you graduate, and at Birmingham we offer over 200 volunteering opportunities, which are open to all our students. These range from conserving the local environment to fundraising for national or international charities. Our Guild of Students (Birmingham's students' union) also hosts over 170 student groups and societies where you can socialise and meet new friends. There are groups based around almost every activity and interest you can think of, as well as international societies bringing together students from specific countries.

What is it like to study on the Birmingham campus?

Our Edgbaston campus offers a safe, friendly environment, a picturesque setting and all the amenities of a small town. These include a wide range of shops, cafés, banks, a travel agent, a post office, a regular farmers' market, medical and dental surgeries, sports facilities and a train station.

The campus provides an inspiring location for academic study, with its historic red brick architecture set on a spacious green parkland site. Many students consider the campus setting to be one of the University's greatest assets.

There are also many cultural attractions on our campus that are free for all our students to enjoy, including an award-winning art gallery, a geological museum and a botanic garden. We are continually developing and improving the campus facilities. In September 2012 the new Bramall Music Auditorium opened as the latest addition to our campus. This multi-million pound development provides a 450-seat auditorium for music, opera, drama and prestigious lectures, as well as state-of-the-art rehearsal rooms and recording facilities.

Other developments currently in progress include a new sports centre, which will feature a 50-metre swimming pool, and a new library development which will provide outstanding facilities for a new generation of students and researchers, as well as an open access cultural hub for the University and the city.

What opportunities are there for sport and exercise?

Birmingham is one of the UK's leading sporting universities and is currently placed sixth in the BUCS (British Universities and Colleges Sport) sports league. Our students can choose from 50 different sports in which to play and compete.

Our global reputation for sport was confirmed in summer 2012 when the world-beating Jamaican track and field team, including Olympic champion sprinters Usain Bolt and Yohan Blake, chose the University as the base for their pre-Olympic training camp.

We are currently building a major new Sports Centre for the University and the wider community. The £55 million centre will have a wide range of facilities, including Birmingham's only 50m swimming pool. The centre will open its doors in late 2016.

However, sport is not just for elite athletes at Birmingham. Our Active Lifestyle programme offers fitness, dance and exercise classes to suit all abilities and fitness levels. There are more than 80 classes a week in activities ranging from boxercise and studio cycling to martial arts, salsa and yoga.

As a FOUNDATION PATHWAY student you have access to all our sporting facilities and expertise on the same basis as all other students here.

14. The city of Birmingham

What is the city of Birmingham like?

Birmingham is England's second city, and is a European centre for retail, commerce and culture. It offers entertainment for all tastes, including leading theatres, music venues, art galleries and museums. It is also home to one of Europe's largest city centre shopping malls, Bullring, which has over 160 shops including Selfridges, Abercrombie and Fitch, Apple and Top Shop.

The city's newest cultural attraction, opened in September 2013, is the state-of-the-art Library of Birmingham, one of the largest and most modern libraries in the world.

It's a truly cosmopolitan city whose residents come from many diverse countries and cultural backgrounds. This is reflected in its restaurants, shops and cultural activities. Wherever you are from, you should have no problem finding food from your home country in the city's restaurants, its Asian or European supermarkets or its large fruit, vegetable, fish and meat markets.

The city is at the centre of England and at the hub of its transport network. London is only one and a half hours away by train. Birmingham Airport, just 25 minutes by taxi from the Edgbaston campus, offers direct flights to the USA, North Africa, Dubai, and European destinations with connections worldwide via Amsterdam, Frankfurt and Istanbul.
