

The Birmingham and Midlands Classical Association would like to invite all teachers to their annual Teachers' Day. Please see the programme for the day below.

Birmingham and Midlands Classical Association Teachers' Day
Saturday 3 February 2018

9.30 - 9.45: Arrival, coffee and welcome

9.45 - 11.30: Feedback on the new GCE and GCSE specifications in Latin; discussion of the new specification in Classical Civilisation (Alex Orgee, OCR Subject Specialist – Classics)

11.30 – 11.45: Coffee break

11.45 – 12.45: Either: Teaching from material culture and images – Hannah Cornwell, University of Birmingham
Or: Teaching Minimus – Barbara Bell, Primary Latin Project

12.45 – 1.30: Lunch

1.30 – 2.30: Either: Odysseus and the Mycenaean World – Guy Kirkham-Smith
Or: Greek and Roman Religion – Ken Dowden, University of Birmingham

2.30 – 3.00: Classics for All Electra Programme: introducing Greek Clubs in schools – Kirsty McAlister, Edgbaston High School

3.00 – 4.00: Heroism in Homer and Virgil – Helen Lovatt, Nottingham University

4.00 – 4.30: Tea, final questions and departure

Please contact Joanna Johnson at Solihull School (JohnsonJ@SolSch.org.uk) to register your interest.

The cost of the event is £40 per attendee which can be paid on the day. Receipts can be supplied after the event. Schools do not need to be a member of the Birmingham and Midlands Classical Association to attend.