

Anticoagulation in Practice Society – AiP

Anticoagulation in Practice (AiP) comprises, uniquely, a group of healthcare professionals and patients interested in the area of antico-agulation

Healthcare professionals include GPs, practice nurses, pharmacists, haematologists, healthcare scientists, community nurses and anticoagu-lation specialist nurses.

Anticoagulation in Practice Society

Who are we?

Board Members

Chair

Nicky Fleming

Biomedical Scientist

Vice Chair

Joanne Malpass

Biomedical Scientist

Secretary

Ellen Murray

Nurse & Academic

Treasurer

Julie Salisbury

Biomedical Scientist

Prof David Fitzmaurice

GP & Academic

Frances Akinwumni

Pharmacist

Diane Eaton

Patient

John Elder

GP

Kathryn Fickling

GP

Eve Knight

Patient & CEO of ACE

Jackie Gumme

Practice Nurse

Will Lester

Consultant Haematologist

Rob Rickbijorst

Patient & Pharmacist

Caroline Russell

Practice Nurse

Administration team : Amy Partleton, Tamara Ball & Luke Gore

AiP Society Aspirations

- To represent all healthcare professionals and patients involved with anticoagulation management in the UK
- Unified voice across anticoagulation

Anticoagulation in Practice Society - AiP

- Develop high quality educational activities
- Support practitioner level research
- Provide opportunities for those working directly with patients
- Provide a central point of information for all things to do with anticoagulation management
- Be an effective voice for informing policy development at all levels

Anticoagulation in Practice Society

We need you.....

Ensure your voice is heard

Join us in being part of this exciting initiative

Contact Amy Partleton a.partleton@bham.ac.uk.