Snappy Search:
Hot food takeaways

Tuesday, 31 March 2015

A quick overview of the latest guidance and evidence on current issues such as smoking, sexual health, health inequalities, mental health, obesity, substance abuse, women's health – in fact anything that you ask for!
If you have a topic suggestion, please email it to Rachel Posaner.

NICE
Eyes on Evidence: local food environment and diet in children and young people

Obesity: working with local communities - guidance
(PH42)

PH42 Obesity - working with local communities: baseline assessment tool

Obesity Learning Centre
(Sturm et al: Social Science and Medicine, 5 March 2015 (pre-print))

Smart food policies for obesity prevention

Public Health England
Obesity and the environment briefing: regulating the growth of fast food outlets

Obesity & the environment: fast food outlets (PHE)

Takeaways toolkit: health impacts of fast food takeaways

NHS Evidence
Using the planning system to control hot food takeaways: A good practice guide

Fast food takeaways: a review of the wider evidence base

The community and consumer food environment and children's diet: a systematic review

National Obesity Observatory
Fast food outlets by local authority

Health and Social Care Information Centre
Statistics on Obesity, Physical Activity and Diet - England, 2015

HMIC
Associations between exposure to takeaway food outlets, takeaway food consumption, and body weight in Cambridgeshire, UK: population based, cross sectional study.
(Burgoine et al: BMJ 2014; 348 (7950): 12 (22 March 2014))
Local Government Association

Waltham Forest - banning hot food takeaways to reduce health inequalities

Working with business to improve the health of our communities

Case studies & examples

Waltham Forest
Barking and Dagenham
Gateshead
Solihull
Bradford
Birmingham
Leeds

Chartered Institute of Environmental Health

Takeaways Toolkit

Healthy Places

Development control. Controlling the prevalence of hot food takeaways using planning law
Hot food takeaways

Town and Country Planning Association

Obesity, hot food takeaways and planning
Planning healthy-weight environments
Public health evidence to support planning for healthier eating

Built environment and 1-year changes in weight and waist circumference in middle-aged and older adults
(Li, F.: American Journal of Epidemiology, vol 169, no 4, Feb 15 2009, p 401-408)

(Xu, H: Journal of Epidemiology and Community Health, Vol. 67, no. 3, Mar 2013, p 271-279)

Social Policy and Practice

Neighbourhood food environment and walkability predict obesity in New York City
(Rundle et al: Environmental Health Perspectives. March 2009 117, 2009)

Obesity-based policies to restrict hot food takeaways: progress by local planning authorities in England
(= survey of 21 English local planning authorities that restrict takeaways to tackle obesity)

A cross sectional study investigating the association between exposure to food outlets and childhood obesity in Leeds, UK
(Griffiths et al: International Journal of Behavioral Nutrition and Physical Activity. 10. 6 Dec 2014)

Scopus

Reported consumption of takeaway food and its contribution to socioeconomic inequalities in body mass index

Google Scholar

Addressing the Wicked Problem of Obesity through Planning and Policies

How can planning add value to obesity prevention programmes? A qualitative study of planning and planners in the Healthy Towns programme in England

A systematic review of the influence of the retail food environment around schools on obesity-related outcomes

A qualitative study of independent fast food vendors near secondary schools in disadvantaged Scottish neighbourhoods

The food environment within the primary school fringe
Changing the Food Environment for Obesity Prevention: Key Gaps and Future Directions

Determinants of childhood obesity: What can we learn from built environment studies?

Consumption of takeaway and fast food in a deprived inner London Borough: are they associated with childhood obesity?

The Conversation

Fast food v councils: the battle for hearts, minds and bellies

In the news

Junk Food City: Leeds’ takeaway addiction is a health timebomb

Birmingham takeaway ban 'begins to pay off'

Takeaway clampdowns 'may combat obesity epidemic'