

Improving knowledge and skills through developing the training collaboratively

I was involved in this project through the local scholastic office in Monza and Brianza. I accepted this proposal with interest because I considered it to be a great professional opportunity to improve my knowledge and my skills, and also to understand how other cultures include autistic pupils in school and in society. It was also a significant experience being a trainer in a course for teachers in primary school. The collaboration with the other members of the team project was very important to develop different materials for the training, and everyone has contributed with their own experience. It was a very meaningful involvement for me. I've put myself to the test in order to transmit my knowledge and my experience with pupils to other teachers like me. With this project I've also improved my knowledge and my ability to work in a team. I hope I've given a little contribution to the change of culture about autism.

Roberta Cuzzolin: scholastic office, trainer, Italy